William Diley and Charles Andrews, vo-ag instructors at Miami Trace High School, are reminding area farmers of the next two adult agriculture meetings in the vo-ag room at the school.

Fertilization in winter can be effective

Winter fertilization is feasible this year on soils suitable for fall plowing, notes Cliff Spies, Purdue University Extension Service agronomist. However, he urges use of good judgment in each situation.

This judgment must be based on slope of the fields, crop residues or crop cover, conservation practices and snow cover, Spies adds.

Major considerations are getting fertilizer in contact with soil surface, moving fertilizer into the soil and not losing it through sheet erosion.

Snow melt runoff can result in fertilizer loss if the material fails to get in contact with the soil surface, he notes. But generally fertilizer can be applied on fields that are level or nearly level with or without snow cover.

Fertilize can also be winter spread on fields with slopes not exceeding five per cent if there is crop residue, contour rows or other conservation practices to slow runoff. Fertilizer can be spread on a light snow cover if the fertilizer can melt through the snow.

Do not apply fertilizer on fields with predominant slopes greater than 5 per cent if runoff will be rapid or if sheet erosion likely will occur, Spies cautions.

On Monday at 8 p.m., Walter Jones of the Ohio Seed Improvement Association, will discuss soybeans, germination, mold, seed quality, necessary management practices for best yield and other matters of vital interest to the soybean farmer.

The following Monday, Feb. 12, David Gerber, area swine Extension specialist, Ohio State University, will focus most of his attention on the problems swine producers face when feeding moldy corn. Breeding, feeding, abortion, rate of gain and how to alter the feed have become prevalent topics among today's swine producers and will be covered during the meeting.

Other meeting topics, dates and speakers are: Feb. 19, Jim Carr, of Early and Daniels Co., will discuss grain marketing; Feb. 26, Dean Simmerel, of the Farm Bureau Federation, will talk about the state income tax and the farmer; and on March 5, Carr will have the concluding grain marketing session.

Following the meetings, refreshments will be served and the Miami Trace gym will be open for recreation.

Byproducts rise faster than meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sure, housewives are paying more for steak and roasts these days, but pity the poor fellow who likes pig brains with his scrambled eggs.

Or a slice of cold beef tongue as a midnight snack. Or homemade oxtail soup. Maybe even a sliver of beef heart.

The Agriculture Department reported Thursday that wholesale prices of such meat by-products, cherished delicacies to many, have soared far more than the run-of-the-mill meats common to most menus.

Pig brains, for example, sold in Chicago last week for $22 per 100 pounds. A year ago brains went for half, $11 a package.

"It's hard to say why by-products have gone up so fast," a USDA spokesman said. "There is a big export demand, and that's part of it."

Prices for live cattle and hogs are at record peaks, and wholesale beef and pork continue climbing. It all points to higher retail prices later for such things as steak, pork chops, roasts and bacon.

But regular meat prices still are not as outlandishly high as many by-products. Beef, on an all-cut basis, was 5.6 per cent more expensive last month than in January 1972.

But cow udders were up, $12 per hundredweight compared with $6.50 a year ago. Selected oxtails went for $37 compared with $19.50 a year ago.

Amber front turn signals for automobiles were found to be more visible than previous white ones during motor vehicle industry tests. Laws were changed in 25 states to permit national use.

PRINCESS SOYA — Getting in practice to help export soybeans, Lydia Hodges, National Princess Soya, fills a model ship with soybeans as she gets ready for a market promotion tour of Europe in March 1973.

Soybean Princess on export mission

While American soybean growers scramble to catch up with exploding foreign demand, one of their own daughters will fly to Europe to help tell the story to concerned soybean users there.

Making the trip will be 20-year-old Lydia Hodges, national Princess Soya and daughter of a soybean farmer near Mantachie, Miss.

From March 7 to 22, she will represent the American Soybean Association at sessions in Denmark, Norway, Hungary and France. She will be accompanying the Elanco-Treflan Soybean Champions Tour made up of winners of 24 state soybean contests. Sponsor of the tour is Elanco Products Company, manufacturer of Treflan soybean herbicide.

A champion college debator, the versatile Miss Hodges is also a several-time beauty contest winner and a nationally recognized agricultural youth leader. This background will serve her well in her wide-ranging European activities.

IN A DENMARK reception her group will meet with high Danish government and industry officials to thank them for expanding their purchases of soybeans and assure them of U.S. commitment to supply Europe with increasing amounts of soybeans at reasonable prices.

In Oslo the Princess will participate in supermarket promotions of soft soy margarine, a product gaining great consumer acceptance because of a special nationwide sales effort. The founders of the Norwegian Soft Soy Margarine Association will be honored at a luncheon following her supermarket appearances.

Miss Hodges will visit the Babolna state farm near Budapest, Hungary, which uses nearly 10,000 tons of soybean meal annually. Officials of the farm and Agrimpex, the Hungarian agency which imports soybean meal, will be presented with a plaque in appreciation by the American Soybean Association.

In France, she will visit a new soybean processing plant at St. Nazaire, where company representatives will be recognized for their activities in expanding soybean use in France. In Paris, the princess will be hostess at a reception for French government and industry officials who are concerned about future U.S. soybean production trends.

Miss Hodges will make appearances on European television and radio, and will be covered by both the consumer and farm press.

Miss Hodges is a sophomore at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, Miss. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hodges who operate a crops-livestock farm near Mantachie.

Miss Hodges is majoring in nutrition and political science, and was 1971 president of the Mississippi 4-H Federation. As a college freshman she received superior ratings in the eastern U.S. region of Pi Kappa Delta, national debating society. She assumed the national Princess Soya crown in August 1972, following a nine-state competition sponsored by the American Soybean Association.

Tractor course set at MTHS

A tractor certification course will be offered on five consecutive Monday evenings, Feb. 5 through March 5, at Miami Trace High School to provide training in tractor safety and to qualify 14 and 15-year-olds to operate farm tractors, under the law. William Diley and Charlie Andrews, MTHS vo-ag instructors are in charge.

With few exceptions, it is against the law to hire young people under the age of 16 to operate farm machinery, but they may be hired if they have successfully completed the certification program.

The 10-hour course, to be held from 8 to 10 p.m. in the MTHS vo-ag department will be in conjunction with the Miami Trace Adult Farmer classes, to be held the same nights in the vo-ag room.

Soybean seed shortage likely

If you intend to plant soybeans this year, you'd better get seed bought and on your farm as soon as possible. That's the advice of Gordon Ryder, Extension Service agronomist at Ohio State University, who foresees a real shortage of good seed for planting the 1973 crop.

The problem is that germination percentages are down. Rainy weather last summer and fall allowed the development of Phomopsis seed decay and seedling blight in growing plants. The fungus disease progressed far enough to reduce germination potential to some extent in fields harvested early and greatly in fields where harvest was delayed.

Supplies of Ohio Certified seed will be shorter than usual, and seed available will not germinate as well as they have in prior years. Only 30 per cent of the soybean seed samples tested in the Ohio Seed Improvement Association laboratory has germinated at rates over 80 per cent. About 50 per cent of the samples germinated at rates over 70 per cent.

THE REAL SHORAGE, however, is in the supplies of seed that farmers usually hold from their own crops and plant the following year. Many samples from these on-farm or elevator-held seed supplies are germinating so poorly that the seed are being sold for feed processing.

If you saved soybeans from your 1972 crop that you want to plant this year, Ryder's advice is to have them tested for germination as soon as possible. If they're like a lot of other Ohio beans grown last year, they may not germinate well.

It will pay to send samples to a laboratory soon — for two reasons. First, it will give you time to find some better seed, if yours do not germinate adequately. Second, the laboratories are becoming swamped with samples for testing.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture's Reynoldsburg laboratory has received so many samples for regulatory testing, which the lab is required to do, the department won't be able to do much testing for individual farmers. In fact, officials there say that with the normal amount of regulatory work coming in, some samples may not be tested until planting time.

IF YOU HAVE a soybean seed sample you'd like tested, Ryder recommends that you send it to a private laboratory. The sample will be tested to determine the regular germination percentage and the germination percentage after the seed are treated. Private laboratories in Ohio are Seed Technology, Inc., P.O. Box 31, Marysville, Ohio 43040; the Ohio Seed Testing Service, P.O. Box 598, West Jefferson, Ohio 43162; National Seed Testing Service, 2042 Birchwood, P.O.

Bill would exempt soldiers from tax

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill to exempt Ohio servicemen from the state income tax was introduced in the Legislature Friday by Rep. Donna Pope, R-12 Parma.

The measure was among eight offered during a brief skeleton session of the House. Others included one by Rep. Rodney Hughes, R-78 Bellefontaine, to tighten eligibility requirements for Aid to Dependent Children.

Each sample should include about three pounds of soybeans packaged in a moisture proof plastic bag or other container. It's likely that a charge of about $7 will be made on each sample dual tested (untreated germination and treated germination).

IF THE LOTS of seed you have tested are good enough to plant, you should have them cleaned and treated. Be sure seed are dried down to 12 or 12½ per cent moisture for safe storage.

The best seed treatment, according to Ryder, is a commercially done slurry treatment with Captan. If such a service isn't available in your area, the next best technique is to apply a seed box treatment at planting time.

Don't treat more than you can use as seed, because beans can't be sold for livestock feed after they are treated. Since excess handling tends to crack beans, leaving them in sacks after cleaning and treatment is advisable.

EXCELLENT CONSERVATION PROGRAM — The Fayette County Soil and Water Conservation District received the "excellent" Goodyear Distinctive Service Conservation Award at the recent 30th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards program in Columbus. James Waddle (left) received congratulations from Burdette Elliott, a member of the Goodyear committee, as he affixed the award ribbon on the Ohio map (background). Sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., the program and annual meeting give the boards of supervisors of the 88 Ohio Soil and Water Conservation Districts an opportunity to evaluate and compare their programs and to discuss their expanded pollution abatement projects, which affect both rural and urban land. William Dunn is chairman of the Fayette County board of supervisors. Other members are Waddle, John Peterson, Richard Carson and Clyde Bower. Lee Cleland is the work unit conservationist and Leonard Watts is the technician.

Cattle feeders have substitute for high priced soybean meal

As soybean and soybean meal prices spiral, cattle feeders are searching for ways to reduce their protein costs.

Dr. T.W. Perry, Purdue University animal nutritionist, points out that Purdue and other universities have developed urea, which can replace a large part of the oil meals as protein sources for beef cattle. Urea contains the crude protein equivalent of over six times its weight in soybean meal.

On today's market urea sells for about five cents a pound. Thus, five cents worth of urea contains the crude protein equivalent of up to 60 cents worth of $200 a ton soybean meal.

Since urea dissolves in water, Perry notes, it lends itself equally well to liquid mixing or dry mixing. Normally, liquid supplements are less expensive than the dry form.

Since urea contains no energy, the energy of the soybean meal replaced must be compensated for, he adds. Usually, this means adding one extra pound of corn per animal per day to the ration.

Misuse of urea can result in toxicity, Perry cautions. The best safeguard

Strike continues at Antioch college

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Most classes still were open, but dining halls and the main administration building were closed as an employee strike at Antioch College ended its third week Friday.

A college spokesman said there was no sign of a settlement in the dispute with about 100 maintenance and food service workers of the United Electrical Workers Union and a number of parttime employees.

against this is to mix it in a complex supplement or a total ration. Such complex supplements include trace minerals, vitamins and sources of unidentified growth factors, such as dehydrated alfalfa meal.

Perry lists these other precautions: Don't use urea supplements for newly arrived or shipped-in cattle for at least three weeks;

Don't feed urea to young calves because they can not utilize it until their rumen develops;

Don't feed urea supplements to cattle that have not been fed for a day or longer — that is, until after they have had a chance to fill their rumen with other feed.

Use of high urea supplements can lower total feed costs by as much as 10 per cent, Perry concludes.

Almost without exception, the tributaries draining into the Amazon River are color keyed, the National Geographic Society says. Streams from the north tend to flow black, darkened by the stain of rain-forest vegetation; those from the south are filtered clear by the white sandy country and pick up the sky's deep blue, and streams from the west churn with brown silt of the Andean highlands.

Saturn in benefic aspect. Rouse yourself to that added effort which brings sweet compensation for extracurricular work. Stay alert, aware.

You are progressive in your ideas, enjoy travel and stimulating companions — from whom you glean higher, broader, more enlightened views and inspiration for greater attainment. CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)
Maintain an intelligent, critical distance from those who do not hold to your principles while you also aim to better understand their reasoning.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)
Much competition in beneficial areas. This is the time to do your best. Don't think too long before taking due action, but guard against impulsiveness, too.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)
People about you may seem less open-minded and enthusiastic now. But you can keep the picture well balanced. It may take some doing, but it will be worth it.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)
New offerings indicated. Not all should be accepted without question. On the other hand, you should not pass up any without investigation.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)
Remember details, small attentions expected, then add little niceties to make things that much more on the plus side. No fretting!

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)
No obvious reason for some happenings? Judgments you may not like? Study them further. Also remember that the end does NOT necessarily justify the means.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)
There's more to this day's influences than may be apparent. What you "forgot" may bother you later, so stay "with it." Live up to your obligations.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)
Mixed aspects, very favorable, in most part, for following well-drawn plans and noting mistakes so as not to repeat.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)
Ignorance will not be an excuse for failure; neither will putting your head in the sand like an ostrich! Step up with an idea; step back where appropriate.

YOU BORN TODAY have a bright, alert mind and unusual physical dexterity. Your enthusiasm for life and all that it holds knows no bounds, and you are always eager and ready to accept new ideas. Normally a cooperative worker and partner, you may, however, go about things in your own way, forgetting others concerned in your plans. In fact, you can be extremely erratic and unsystematic in your methods, but you DO get things done eventually. Procrastination is one of the traits you MUST learn to conquer; also a tendency toward excessive volubility. Under ordinary circumstances, you are clear-sighted and realistic but, when your emotions take over, your mental vision becomes blurred, and judgment suffers. Your talents are many but, notably, in the fields of literature, music, painting, science and politics.

THEY'RE ALL THUMBS—green thumbs—after they take a class in gardening with Aileen Paul in her Leonia, N.J., home.

A Way with Children

She's a Successful Author Because She Has Young Ideas

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

AILEEN PAUL has a way with children. Maybe her success is due to the fact that she never talks down to them. She has written four how-to books for youngsters and she regularly teaches children's classes in cooking and gardening in her home in Leonia, N. J. She's one teacher that students like because she respects them.

"It's hard for me to remember funny things children say," she said, "I don't think what they say is funny. I take children seriously."

Aileen has three youngsters of her own. Fred, 15, and K. T., 16, are still at home, while a married daughter, Celia, is a community organizer for the Throgs Neck Health Station in the East Bronx.

Mother's Lesson

When all three were little, Aileen taught them cooking and gardening. "It wasn't just for family togetherness," she said, "but because cooking and gardening are things I love to do for sheer creative fun."

Later, Aileen, an attractive, soft-spoken blonde, had her own TV show, "New York Cook." That's when she discovered how much interest there is in children whipping up recipes.

"Every time I had my daughter Celia on the show making cookies or cakes," she recalled, "the switchboard would be swamped. My neighbors got into the act, and before long I was teaching Celia her way around a stove—and I was teaching all the neighbors' children, too."

The gardening classes—the spring session will be starting soon—came later.

Four Children's Books

A natural outgrowth of the classes are her two books, "Kids Cooking" and "Kids Gardening" for Doubleday. A third book, "Kids Camping" will be published shortly and a fourth, "Kids Cooking Cookies, Candies and Cakes" is on its way to the publisher.

"And I have another book I'm going to write," she said. "It will tell children how to buy things, how to spend their money wisely."

Co-op Ventures

Aileen is president of the 43-year-old Cooperative Institute Association, with headquarters at the Mid-Eastern Cooperative Inc., More Avenue, Carlstadt, N. J. She is keenly interested in letting people know how to buy things—food, pharmaceuticals, furniture, etc.—the co-op way.

"If you're a member of a food co-op," she said, "there are several advantages. The food prices are lower and the quality's higher on co-op labels. At the end of the year, you get a rebate of about 2 per cent on the money you've spent for groceries. But, of course, you don't have to be a member to shop at a co-op. It offers good values for all shoppers."

This May, there will be a workshop designed to teach people how to set up consumer co-ops at Arlie House in Warrenton, Va.

Radio Show

When she's not teaching or writing, Aileen is apt to be found at WNYC. She had a radio program—she hopes to syndicate it—that is heard three times a week in the metropolitan New York area. The program not only reports entertainments and special events of interest to young people but presents the opinions of junior "critics" on new movies, plays and happenings for children. She's also done a pilot film on a "Kids Cooking" TV show that she's hoping to sell to a commercial sponsor. What is the format like?

Junior Gourmets

"Well, something like a junior Galloping Gourmet," she said, "but with no brandy in the cupboard! We'd have two or three youngsters cooking on each show—and I'd gently weave in some good nutrition points."

Ladies of GAR hear reports

Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic met in Anderson's Restaurant Friday with Mrs. Kenneth Bryan and Mrs. Harry Bell, hostesses.

Mrs. Bryan opened the session in ritualistic form and Miss Florence Purcell read Psalm 89. Newly elected patriotic instructor, Mrs. Lawrence Black, led the Pledge of Allegiance, Articles of Faith and the American's Creed. Mrs. Walter Parrett read correspondence, and Mrs. Ralph Child presented the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Gene Carman was appointed librarian, and will also tabulate calls made to the sick, donations, and charity work for the group.

Miss Purcell read correspondence from Mrs. Gladys Tompkins, past state president, and Miss Etha Sturgeon presented the poem, "Lincoln," written by Frank Grubbs.

Mrs. Eckle given surprise party

Members of the Maple Grove United Methodist Women met in the home of Mrs. John Louis for a potluck dinner and surprise party for Mrs. Locey Eckle, who with Mr. Eckle, recently observed their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Marion Dawson baked a big cake for the occasion, and Mrs. Harold Craven made nut cups with a miniature "50th" on them.

Two old-time Friends of Mrs. Eckle, Mrs. Arta Davis and Miss Glenn Oesterle, both of Columbus, were also present, as a surprise.

During the afternoon meeting conducted by Mrs. Wilbur Chaplin, reports

Guest speaker, Bundit Kanyavongha, AFS student from Thailand, showed slides and told of life there. Bundit is living with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nestor and family during his senior year here. He also had on display several articles from Thailand.

An interesting question and answer period followed.

During the social hour, the Jenny Adams Circle served refreshments of cookies and coffee.

branch of NOW, Aileen is strongly interested in Women's Lib ("But I don't have time to do as much work for Women's Lib as I'd like.") Her day is mostly spent on one of her youth-oriented projects.

"You know," she said, "children are much more satisfactory to work with than adults are. Children hear you when you're talking or teaching. Their minds aren't clogged up with details. Their minds aren't off someplace else—mentally writing a store list or a thank-you note to a mother-in-law."

Summer at the Shore

Future plans include a flying trip to London with her children and a long summer at her favorite Jersey shore resort, Barnegat Light on Long Beach Island.

"But it'll be a working summer," she said. "I'll do some writing and, as always, I'll be testing recipes and working with local youngsters. My kitchen is always a mob scene of kids cooking."

Mrs. Viva White, the only Civil War widow living here, will be presented a floral arrangement from the GAR, and it was announced that the group will present a new outdoor American flag to Memorial Hospital.

Arrangements of hearts and flowers centered the tables, with miniature marble mice and rabbits at each place setting. Mrs. Arthur Finley had calendars for the year were distributed, telling the hostesses and meeting places each month.

Those present were Mrs. Child, Mrs. Black, Miss Mazie Rowe, Mrs. Herbert Hoppes, Miss Sturgeon, Mrs. Ralph Hays, Mrs. Arthur Finley, Mrs. W. P. Noble, Miss Purcell, Miss Minnie Smith, Dr. Bernice O'Brian, Mrs. Bell, Miss Florence Hidy, Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Walter Parrett.

were heard, prayer pals revealed, and new ones chosen, and an original poem read by Mrs. John Rowland. The group presented Mrs. Eckle a gold-edged bowl and a golden butterfly.

Mrs. Eckle read an appropriate reading, brought by Mrs. Homer Kelly, "Samples Needed."

Mrs. Oattie Huff was welcomed as a new member.

Others present were Mrs. John Rowland, Mrs. Neil Rowland, Mrs. Dawson, Mrs. Eckle, Mrs. Kelly, the Rev. and Mrs. Earl Russell, Mrs. Craven, Mrs. Chaplin and the hostesses.

nouncement of the Association Meeting for March 8. Members were asked to help furnish towels and detergent for the church kitchen. It was decided to meet March 12 in the evening to share in the kitchen cleanup.

Mrs. Gerald Wheat presented the Bible Study, "A Sense of Awe Everywhere." A discussion ensued, based on verses distributed by Mrs. Wheat from the Book of Acts. Each member gave her opinion on the meaning of "The Holy Spirit." The consensus of opinion was that "The Holy Spirit" is the living presence of God.

During the social hour, refreshments prepared by Miss Stookey were enjoyed.

Heavy rains hit Atlantic coast areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy rains drenched the northern and central Atlantic Coast states today as unseasonably warm weather persisted in the eastern half of the nation.

More than 3 inches of rain soaked Raleigh, N.C., Friday night while most areas along the coast received 1 to 2 inches.

Rain also fell over the lower Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley.

Flash-flood warnings were issued in New England and gale warnings were posted for New England coastal waters and Lakes Erie and Ontario. Wind gusts reached 62 miles an hour in Philadelphia and 66 miles an hour in Nantucket, R.I.

Area Guidance Center committees named

Two new members were named to the board of trustees and committees were formed for 1973 at the Scioto Paint Valley Guidance Center board meeting held in Chillicothe.

Representing Fayette County were Mrs. Jean Craig, Dr. James Rose and Rollo M. Marchant, who was one of the new members elected to serve a three-year term on the board of trustees. Marchant replaces Robert Brubaker, who now becomes an ex-officio member of the budget and finance committee.

Mrs. Betty Litteral, of Pike County, was elected as a new board member and Mrs. Jean Carson, of Highland County, Miss Martha Cottrill, of Ross County, and Wayne Hines, of Pickaway County, were re-elected to serve on the board of trustees for an additional three years.

THE FOLLOWING committees were formed:

Budget and finance — Richard Fisher, chairman; Mrs. Zelma Lapp, Mrs. Craig, Marchant and Brubaker.

Housing — Paul Myers, chairman, Gilbert Stultz and Robert Shanks.

Personnel — Dr. William Myers, chairman; Hines and Dr. Kenneth Wilkinson.

Executive — Mrs. Zelma Lapp, chairman, Richard Fisher and Mrs. Craig.

Planning and policy — Mrs. Carson; chairman, Dr. Rose and Miss Cottrill.

By-laws — Miss Cottrill and Mrs. Craig.

Public relations — Fisher, chairman, Mrs. Craig, Miss Carlene Phillips, Mrs. Litteral and Mrs. Lapp.

Judge Gerald Radcliffe spoke to the board concerning the right of people to treatment and the need to rely more on community mental health resources rather than the state hospitals. He also expressed gratitude that the guidance center's services will be available for cases appearing before his court and stated that he looks forward to a close relationship with the Guidance Center.

The activities of the clinic were reviewed and approved by the board.

WCH alone atop SCOL after MT win

Fourth period spurt gives Lions triumph

By MIKE FLYNN
Record-Herald Sports Editor
Washington C.H.'s title-hungry Blue Lions emerged with sole ownership of the top perch in the crowded South Central Ohio League basketball sweepstakes with a goose-pimply 61-60 come-from-behind win over an upset-minded Hillsboro bunch Friday night at the WSHS gym.

The Lions' win, coupled with Miami Trace's verdict over previous co-leader Circleville, pumped Washington C.H.'s SCOL record to 6-2 and left head coach Gary Shaffer's gang a full game in front of Circleville, Miami Trace and Wilmington, all knotted with identical 5-3 loop charts.

Washington C.H., behind a clutch performance from senior smoothie Chuck Bath, bounced back from a five-point deficit with less than three minutes remaining to nudge the determined Hillsboro team.

BATH, the Lions' velvet-smooth wingman, bagged 19 points on the basis of six field goals and seven free throws, but it was the late workmanlike scorework from the shock-proof senior that clinched the win for rascally Washington C.H., which hiked its all-games log to a nifty 9-6.

Jeff Downs, a hard-working 6-foot-1 senior, consistent forward Mike

Domenico and Dick Witherspoon played instrumental roles with Bath in the closing moments of the hard-fought struggle which was never really decided until the final buzzer.

Witherspoon provided ample support in Washington C.H.'s attack as he popped in seven field goals and two free throws for 16 points.

Don Jewett, the classy Hillsboro sharpshooter, hooped 26 points and turned in a hustling, banging board effort before being sidelined with the maximum number of personal fouls late in the game.

The slippery Jewett dictated the tempo of the game with his flashy scorework and rebounding and led head coach Bob Ream's pesky Indians to leads which stretched nine points in the third quarter. But when the springy inside ace was sidelined with 1:55 remaining Washington C.H. inched ahead to stay on two free throws by Bath and one each from Domenico and Witherspoon.

Kevin Bailey and Lawrence Turner canned 13 and 12 points respectively for Hillsboro which had a two-game win spree snapped and watched its SCOL record dip to a 3-5 level.

Washington C.H., which never held the upper hand in the game until the opening play of the second quarter, boasted only six leads in the contest until spurting away in the last minute and a half of the fourth quarter.

The Lions hit 40 per cent from the floor on 22 of 63 shots and canned 14 of 21 free throws for a 67 per cent figure. Hillsboro netted 24 of 65 attempts from the field for 37 per cent and hit 17 of 27 charity tosses.

Hillsboro hit its first four shots from the field to open the first quarter and Jewett owned half of that total as the Indians raced to an 8-0 lead with 5:43 left. Bath was fouled by Jewett on a driving layup and hit both free throws for the Lions' initial score with 5:30 showing on the clock.

JEWETT CANNED four more points before the period ended and the teams struggled to a 15-15 tie.

Forward Kenny Knisley hit a fielder to give the Lions their first lead of the game with only 20 seconds having elapsed in the second period and the game was tied five more times before Hillsboro spurted to a 33-31 halftime lead.

The Lions were held scoreless for over three minutes midway through the third period and enjoyed only one lead as Hillsboro outscored the Fayette Countians 14-12 to nab a 47-43 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Two goals by Jeff Downs tied the game at 47-47 with 5:42 left and the game was knotted twice more before Hillsboro zipped to a 56-51 lead with 2:27 remaining. A driving layup and two free throws by Bath and a long jumper by Witherspoon gave the Lions a 57-56 lead as Jewett fouled out.

The lead was expanded to 60-56 before Bill Housh scored two goals, one with four seconds left.

Lion reserves hold lead in SCOL rumble

Washington C. H.'s reserve basketball team preserved its tie atop the South Central Ohio League race with a 56-50 win over Hillsboro Friday.

Coach John Skinner, employing another all-junior starting quintet then switching to five sophomores in the second frame, received balanced scoring from 10 players to post the win.

The win was Washington C. H.'s eighth of the season and sixth in SCOL play which kept the Lions tied with Circleville for league supremacy.

JUNIOR FORWARD Larry Howell topped Washington C.H.'s scorebook with 12 points and Mark Johnson, Jim Vess and Tom Allen each contributed eight.

The Lions grabbed a 12-10 first quarter edge and fell behind by a 25-24 count at halftime. Washington C.H. bounced back in the third quarter to take a 36-33 lead and capped the win a 20-point fourth quarter spree.

Mike Sharkey scored 17 points for Coach Larry Pummell's Indians, now 7-7 on the season.

The Tigers' tenacious man-to-man defense forced the Panthers away from the basket most of the period and they were unable to work the ball inside for good shots. Jeff Spears picked up his third foul late in the quarter and was replaced by Steinhauser.

Martin, undaunted by the Panther's switch to a 1-2-2 zone defense, popped in two quick buckets in the opening minutes of the second quarter as the Tigers raced to a 27-15 lead with 3:28 remaining in the half.

THE PANTHER press seemed to take effect when Tiger Dave Truex left the game with three fouls a few seconds later and with the Jones brothers showing the way, closed the gap to five, 33-28 at the half. Miami Trace forced three quick Circleville turnovers in the last two minutes of play, outscoring the Tigers 8-2.

Two quick buckets by Steinhauser put the Panthers within one point in the opening minute of the third period, but Martin again popped in another 25-footer and put the lead back to three points.

Two free throws by Steinhauser, a Tiger turnover and Miami Trace was again in business, finally taking the lead on a 15-foot jumper by Reiber with four minutes remaining.

However, Truex popped in a jumper from the top of the key and stole the ensuing inbounds pass to give the Roundtowners another three-point margin. The Panthers were not to be denied, however, and scored six points in the last minute and 20 seconds to take a 46-43 lead into the final quarter.

Both teams appeared jittery as the landed double digit totals, squeezed past a determined Greenfield team 61-59 Friday night to stumble into a three-way logjam for second place in the drum tight South Central Ohio League title fuss.

Wilmington, which registered its fifth SCOL triumph in eight games and second consecutive win of the campaign, scored a measly three points from the free throw line and was forced to erase a two-point halftime deficit to nudge Buddy Kennedy and his Greenfield playmates.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS left Washington C. H. alone atop the standings with a 6-2 record while Miami Trace, Wilmington and Circleville are all one game off the pace with identical 5-3 marks.

Tim Wilson, the muscular 6-foot-3 pivotman, sparked Wilmington's win with 20 points, but snared a total of 28 rebounds. Robert Raizk provided ample support with 11 points.

Buddy Kennedy, the squirmy whirlwind backcourt gem, popped in 26 points for Greenfield, which absorbed its eighth straight setback inside the SCOL.

The two teams struggled to a 13-13 first period deadlock and Greenfield poured in 13 points in the second frame to grab a 26-24 edge at intermission before Wilmington erupted for 23 points in the third canto to take a 47-41 lead. Head coach Buddy Bell's boys sealed the win with 14 points in the final frame.

fourth quarter got under way. Miami Trace taking advantage of the one-and-one situation and two Circleville turnovers, however, managed to build a seven-point lead at 55-48 with 2:40 showing on the clock.

The Tigers' aggressive defense almost saved the game for them as they twice stole the ball from Panther ball handlers and turned them into baskets. Martin stole an errant Panther pass and raced for a layup to close the gap to one, 55-54, with 10 seconds remaining.

Following a Circleville timeout the Panthers put the ball in play and the Tigers fouled Pete Jones on the in-bounds pass.

Jones calmly stepped to the line and dropped in both shots of a one-and-one situation to give the Fayette Countians a 57-54 lead and insure the victory. Truex drove the length of the floor uncontested for the final basket to close the gap to one point.

"IT WAS GREAT," a jubilant Jan Stauffer said in the Panther lockerroom after he and his players were mobbed by the happy fans.

The Panthers, now in a three way deadlock with Circleville and Wilmington for second place, will travel to Columbus Bishop Hartley tonight.

Free throws proved to be the difference in the contest. The Panthers hit 19 of 27 chances while Circleville got only 10 chances and made good on six. The Tigers made six more field goals, 25 of 57, than Miami Trace, 19 of 47 from the field.

The Tigers, now in a three-game tailspin, tangle with Hamilton Township tonight.

The Tigers outrebounded Miami Trace 38-15 in posting their sixth SCOL victory to cling to a first place deadlock with Washington C. H.

Paced by some fine outside shooting by Perry Hoskins and Phil Roll the Tigers breezed to a 32-16 halftime and coasted the second half, holding the Panthers to 26 points.

Al Fleming turned in a fine defensive performance for Miami Trace, blocking eight Tiger shots. Phil Skinner hit eight points to lead the Panthers in that category.

Cafeteria injury list tops 100; suspect held

250 flee Florida arson fire

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police say a "cold-blooded" arsonist touched off a flash fire in a crowded cafeteria that left more than a hundred persons injured.

Many of the injured were bruised or cut as the some 250 patrons, most of them elderly, rushed to escape the flames Friday night. Others suffered burns or shock, authorities said.

Checks at four Miami area hospitals indicated an injury list of at least 125, with 10 of those listed in serious condition.

Police Chief Rocky Pomerance said early today "we have a logical suspect now being questioned" but no charges had been filed.

Police said the arsonist walked into the Concord cafeteria shortly before 11 p.m. EST carrying a container "which has been described as everything from a bucket to a jar."

"He emptied the contents of the container on the floor of the cafeteria near the front, looked around the crowded room, lit a match and ignited the substance, then immediately fled the building," a police spokesman said.

"Once the substance was ignited, it created a flash-fire situation that was immediate and intense. People panicked and tried to get out of there any way they could."

"He must have been cold-blooded as hell."

Ben Schwartz, a retired Miami Beach resident, said that, the instant he saw the man throw the match, there was "complete darkness. We went out the front door in a stampede."

Another diner, Joseph Greenberg, said the flames "went right to the ceiling. I was forced to the back of the cafeteria, and the smoke suffocated me. It was chaos, a nightmare."

Greenberg and some 20 other persons fled to the back of the restaurant and

Man arrested for industrial espionage bid

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year-old Canadian man has been accused by federal authorities of trying to sell a stolen tire-making formula valued at $1 million to the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

FBI agents arrested the man, Howard Thomson of Midland, Ont., a former employee of Michelin Tire Co., Friday and charged him with interstate transportation of stolen property. Agents said two vials of liquid from Michelin in Nova Scotia were seized.

The FBI said Thomson had offered to sell the secret ingredient for $315,000. A Firestone official said the FBI was alerted after Thomson telephoned the Firestone purchasing office last week.

Firestone officials said they have been trying to isolate the Michelin formula but had been unable to identify it.

Strikers separated

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP)— Officials of the Ohio Reformatory for Women separated 56 striking inmates from the rest of the population Friday as a work stoppage over a number of grievances continued.

The 56 agreed to be moved from their cottages to a large dormitory after 25 other inmates who had taken part in the strike since Monday decided to return to work, a spokesman for the state Corrections Department said.

The transfer was made without incident with the assistance of about 25 security personnel called in from other correctional institutions as a precautionary measure.

Meanwhile, the 56 inmates continued to refuse to meet with corrections officials to discuss their grievances, the spokesmen said.

Reformatory Supt. Martha Wheeler said she has received three lists of grievances but inmates, so far, have been unwilling to discuss them in detail. She said they deal with medical and food service, telephone and visitation privileges and the institution's parole and furlough systems.

Navy ousts malcontents; up to 6,000 said involved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid increasing reports of racial and other troubles, the Navy has decided to give disgruntled sailors who want out a chance to quit.

Navy officials Friday confirmed that 2,959 men considered a "burden to the command" took advantage of the special program through the last Friday in January. They said perhaps 3,000 more will be discharged by the end of this month.

The releases are being carried out under a Dec. 26 directive issued by Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., chief of naval operations.

The criteria for the special discharge requires the men to voluntarily request discharge in writing. Having served at least one year, they are still eligible for most veterans' benefits.

Zumwalt's directive requires that men taking advantage of the program have service records which reflect huddled in a corner away from the wall of flame. Others smashed a plateglass window to escape.

5 known dead, 8 missing in Iowa explosion, fire

EAGLE GROVE, Iowa (AP) — Rescuers searched through tons of debris today for more victims of an apparent gas explosion which ripped through a popular restaurant in this small farm town during a Friday night "fish fry."

By daybreak, five bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the Chatterbox Cafe and two adjoining stores, which also were demolished in the blast and fire.

Mayor Kenneth Brauman and agents of the Iowa Bureau of Criminal Investigation said a total of 13 persons were believed to have been in the area when the blast occurred at the height of the dinner hour. Authorities said the explosion apparently was triggered by a natural gas leak.

There were apartments on the second floor of one of the buildings, but authorities said it could not be determined at once if they were occupied at the time of the blast. All three buildings were made of brick.

Three of the five bodies, not immediately identified, were found still sitting in a booth in the cafe.

Among the missing, Brauman said, was Donni Blue, 42, Eagle Grove truck driver and son of former Iowa Gov. Robert Blue.

Estimates of the dead immediately after the blast ranged up to 24.

A fire apparently fed by natural gas which authorities said they were unable to shut off immediately raged through the wreckage and prevented any efforts to search the debris for hours after the explosion.

Two large cranes were brought in from Fort Dodge, about 20 miles away, to help with the search.

At the blast, the floor of the restaurant plunged into the basement and the walls tumbled in.

The adjoining hardware store and a jewelry store also were demolished.

Authorities said Woodrow Loux, 58, an Eagle Grove standby fireman,

Mild earthquake hits sections of Rome

ROME (AP) — A mild earthquake jolted sections of Rome early today. Thousands of persons awakened by the rumbling fled their homes in panic, but there were no reports of injuries or damage.

Police, firemen and the Red Cross said they had received scores of telephone calls from Romans who feared there had been an explosion.

Judge still not satisfied all Watergate facts bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — People other than the seven defendants in the Watergate bugging trial may have known large sums were being spent for political espionage against the Democrats, says the federal judge who handled the case. And he expressed hope an upcoming Senate investigation will get to the bottom of it.

"I was not satisfied during the trial ... and I'm still not satisfied that all the pertinent facts that might be available have been brought out," Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica said Friday as he set $100,000 surety bonds for the two men who were convicted Tuesday.

The Senate Democratic leadership has picked Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., to direct a full-scale investigation.

Federal drug czar sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maintaining a "Keystone Cops situation" exists between the two chief government agencies fighting illicit drugs, a congressman has urged creation of a federal drug law-enforcement czar.

Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., responding to reports of friction between the two agencies, said Friday he'll press for legislation setting up a narcotics czar with control over drug probes and arrests.

A private study commissioned by the American Bar Association and the Drug Abuse Council reported last year that friction and jealousies have arisen between the Justice Department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and the Treasury Department's Customs Bureau.

A narcotics case in New York last year "was almost blown by a Bureau of Customs agent" who was "irked that BNDD had been given primary responsibility over that major investigation," Murphy said.

The agent snatched a sample package from 200 pounds of heroin hidden in a car when it entered the United States, "just to let BNDD know that Customs had first crack at the narcotics," he added.

The prosecution maintained Liddy was the boss of the bugging operation and that no others were involved except McCord and five men who pleaded guilty early in the trial. Liddy was general counsel of the Nixon re-election committee and McCord was its security chief. All seven await sentencing.

Hugh W. Sloan, former treasurer of the re-election committee's finance arm, had testified he gave Liddy $199,000 but did not know what it would be used for. He said it was authorized by Jeb Magruder, deputy director of the re-election committee.

The judge revealed that in a chambers conference he had suggested to the two defense attorneys it was not too late for their clients to go voluntarily before the grand jury to tell what they knew about the Watergate conspiracy. He made it clear he would not impose a more lenient sentence if that were the case.

Breakthroughs in cease-fire

SAIGON (AP) — Significant breakthroughs were reported today in carrying out the military and political provisions of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement, including plans for prisoner exchanges.

The International Commission of Control and Supervision announced that its seven regional teams would be in the field and operational Monday to investigate alleged cease-fire violations, nearly a week behind the schedule designated in the agreement.

In Paris, a South Vietnamese spokesman for the Saigon peace delegation said talks would begin very shortly with the Viet Cong on a political solution.

The agreement signed in Paris a week ago says: "The two South Vietnamese parties shall sign an agreement on the internal matters of South Vietnam as soon as possible and do their utmost to accomplish this within 90 days after the ceasefire comes into effect." The cease-fire officially began at 8 a.m. Saigon time last Sunday.

In a third major development, U.S. spokesmen disclosed that American, South Vietnamese, North Vietnamese and Viet Cong members of the subcommittee on captured persons of the four party joint military commission met to plan for prisoner exchanges. The substance of the talks was not disclosed.

The peacekeeping developments overshadowed the fighting as thousands of Vietnamese celebrated the Tet lunar new year. President Nguyen Van Thieu called it "the first peaceful new year after 15 years of war."

The Saigon military command reported no major fights.

Government faces penalty for suppressing evidence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the Pentagon papers trial has declared the government was wrong to withhold important evidence from Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo, but he has ordered the trial to continue.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne denied defense motions for dismissal and mistrial late Friday, but he warned he may impose "sanctions" penalizing the government for its actions later in the trial.

William Diley and Charles Andrews, vo-ag instructors at Miami Trace High School, are reminding area farmers of the next two adult agriculture meetings in the vo-ag room at the school.

Fertilization in winter can be effective

Winter fertilization is feasible this year on soils suitable for fall plowing, notes Cliff Spies, Purdue University Extension Service agronomist. However, he urges use of good judgment in each situation.

This judgment must be based on slope of the fields, crop residues or crop cover, conservation practices and snow cover, Spies adds.

Major considerations are getting fertilizer in contact with soil surface, moving fertilizer into the soil and not losing it through sheet erosion.

Snow melt runoff can result in fertilizer loss if the material fails to get in contact with the soil surface, he notes. But generally fertilizer can be applied on fields that are level or nearly level with or without snow cover.

Fertilizer can also be winter spread on fields with slopes not exceeding five per cent if there is crop residue, contour rows or other conservation practices to slow runoff. Fertilizer can be spread on a light snow cover if the fertilizer can melt through the snow.

Do not apply fertilizer on fields with predominant slopes greater than 5 per cent if runoff will be rapid or if sheet erosion likely will occur, Spies cautions.

On Monday at 8 p.m., Walter Jones of the Ohio Seed Improvement Association, will discuss soybeans, germination, mold, seed quality, necessary management practices for best yield and other matters of vital interest to the soybean farmer.

The following Monday, Feb. 12, David Gerber, area swine Extension specialist, Ohio State University, will focus most of his attention on the problems swine producers face when feeding moldy corn. Breeding, feeding, abortion, rate of gain and how to alter the feed have become prevalent topics among today's swine producers and will be covered during the meeting.

Other meeting topics, dates and speakers are: Feb. 19, Jim Carr, of Early and Daniels Co., will discuss grain marketing; Feb. 26, Dean Simmerel, of the Farm Bureau Federation, will talk about the state income tax and the farmer; and on March 5, Carr will have the concluding grain marketing session.

Following the meetings, refreshments will be served and the Miami Trace gym will be open for recreation.

Byproducts rise faster than meat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sure, housewives are paying more for steak and roasts these days, but pity the poor fellow who likes pig brains with his scrambled eggs.

Or a slice of cold beef tongue as a midnight snack. Or homemade oxtail soup. Maybe even a sliver of beef heart.

The Agriculture Department reported Thursday that wholesale prices of such meat by-products, cherished delicacies to many, have soared far more than the run-of-the-mill meats common to most menus.

Pig brains, for example, sold in Chicago last week for $22 per 100 pounds. A year ago brains went for half, $11 a package.

"It's hard to say why by-products have gone up so fast," a USDA spokesman said. "There is a big export demand, and that's part of it."

Prices for live cattle and hogs are at record peaks, and wholesale beef and pork continue climbing. It all points to higher retail prices later for such things as steak, pork chops, roasts and bacon.

But regular meat prices still are not as outlandishly high as many by-products. Beef, on an all-cut basis, was 5.6 per cent more expensive last month than in January 1972.

But cow udders were up, $12 per hundredweight compared with $6.50 a year ago. Selected oxtails went for $37 compared with $19.50 a year ago.

Amber front turn signals for automobiles will be more visible than previous white ones during motor vehicle industry tests. Laws were changed in 25 states to permit national use.

PRINCESS SOYA — Getting in practice to help export soybeans, Lydia Hodges, National Princess Soya, fills a model ship with soybeans as she gets ready for a market promotion tour of Europe in March 1973.

Soybean Princess on export mission

While American soybean growers scramble to catch up with exploding foreign demand, one of their own daughters will fly to Europe to help tell the story to concerned soybean users there.

Making the trip will be 20-year-old Lydia Hodges, national Princess Soya and daughter of a soybean farmer near Mantachie, Miss.

From March 7 to 22, she will represent the American Soybean Association at sessions in Denmark, Norway, Hungary and France. She will be accompanying the Elanco-Treflan Soybean Champions Tour made up of winners of 24 state soybean contests. Sponsor of the tour is Elanco Products Company, manufacturer of Treflan soybean herbicide.

A champion college debator, the versatile Miss Hodges is also a several-time beauty contest winner and a nationally recognized agricultural youth leader. This background will serve her well in her wide-ranging European activities.

IN A DENMARK reception her group will meet with high Danish government and industry officials to thank them for expanding their purchases of soybeans and assure them of U.S. commitment to supply Europe with increasing amounts of soybeans at reasonable prices.

In Oslo the Princess will participate in supermarket promotions of soft soy margarine, a product gaining great consumer acceptance because of a special nationwide sales effort. The founders of the Norwegian Soft Soy Margarine Association will be honored at a luncheon following her supermarket appearances.

Miss Hodges will visit the Babolna state farm near Budapest, Hungary, which uses nearly 10,000 tons of soybean meal annually. Officials of the farm and Agrimpex, the Hungarian agency which imports soybean meal, will be presented with a plaque in appreciation by the American Soybean Association.

In France, she will visit a new soybean processing plant at St. Nazaire, where company representatives will be recognized for their activities in expanding soybean use in France. In Paris, the princess will be hostess at a reception for French government and industry officials who are concerned about future U.S. soybean production trends.

Miss Hodges will make appearances on European television and radio, and will be covered by both the consumer and farm press.

Miss Hodges is a sophomore at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus, Miss. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hodges who operate a crops-livestock farm near Mantachie.

Miss Hodges is majoring in nutrition and political science, and was 1971 president of the Mississippi 4-H Federation. As a college freshman she received superior ratings in the eastern U.S. region of Pi Kappa Delta, national debating society. She assumed the national Princess Soya crown in August 1972, following a nine-state competition sponsored by the American Soybean Association.

Tractor course set at MTHS

A tractor certification course will be offered on five consecutive Monday evenings, Feb. 5 through March 5, at Miami Trace High School to provide training in tractor safety and to qualify 14 and 15-year-olds to operate farm tractors, under the law. William Diley and Charlie Andrews, MTHS vo-ag instructors are in charge.

With few exceptions, it is against the law to hire young people under the age of 16 to operate farm machinery, but they may be hired if they have successfully completed the certification program.

The 10-hour course, to be held from 8 to 10 p.m. in the MTHS vo-ag department will be in conjunction with the Miami Trace Adult Farmer classes, to be held the same nights in the vo-ag room.

SUPER

Only SUPER-B has the STAGE CONTROLLED™
SWEAT DRYING
PROCESS . . .

"Sweat Drying" is the most natural way to dry grain. This carefully controlled combination of heated and tempered air flow produces a bright colored, top quality grain every time.

Powerful fans force the heated air through the grain. As the air cools, the controlled, tempered air flow allows the kernel to sweat moisture to its surface and the moisture evaporates. This continual sweating and evaporating dries the grain gently and evenly. The constant tempered air flow and cycling process keeps the kernel temperature lower, thus reducing "stress cracking," which results from too much concentrated heat.

Step by step, the SUPER-B carefully controls the flow of the grain throughout the grain drying system . . . automatically!

Soybean seed shortage likely

If you intend to plant soybeans this year, you'd better get seed bought and on your farm as soon as possible. That's the advice of Gordon Ryder, Extension Service agronomist at Ohio State University, who foresees a real shortage of good seed for planting the 1973 crop.

The problem is that germination percentages are down. Rainy weather last summer and fall allowed the development of Phomopsis seed decay and seedling blight in growing plants. The fungus disease progressed far enough to reduce germination potential to some extent in fields harvested early and greatly in fields where harvest was delayed.

Supplies of Ohio Certified seed will be shorter than usual, and seed available will not germinate as well as they have in prior years. Only 30 per cent of the soybean seed samples tested in the Ohio Seed Improvement Association laboratory has germinated at rates over 80 per cent. About 50 per cent of the samples germinated at rates over 70 per cent.

THE REAL SHORAGE, however, is in the supplies of seed that farmers usually hold from their own crops and plant the following year. Many samples from these on-farm or elevator-held seed supplies are germinating so poorly that the seed are being sold for feed processing.

If you saved soybeans from your 1972 crop that you want to plant this year, Ryder's advice is to have them tested for germination as soon as possible. If they're like a lot of other Ohio beans grown last year, they may not germinate well.

It will pay to send samples to a laboratory soon — for two reasons. First, it will give you time to find some better seed, if yours do not germinate adequately. Second, the laboratories are becoming swamped with samples for testing.

The Ohio Department of Agriculture's Reynoldsburg laboratory has received so many samples for regulatory testing, which the lab is required to do, the department won't be able to do much testing for individual farmers. In fact, officials there say that with the normal amount of regulatory work coming in, some samples may not be tested until planting time.

IF YOU HAVE a soybean seed sample you'd like tested, Ryder recommends that you send it to a private laboratory. The sample will be tested to determine the regular germination percentage and the germination percentage after the seed are treated. Private laboratories in Ohio are Seed Technology, Inc., P.O. Box 31, Marysville, Ohio 43040; the Ohio Seed Testing Service, P.O. Box 598, West Jefferson, Ohio 43162; National Seed Testing Service, 2042 Birchwood, P.O.

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP)—Most classes still were open, but dining halls and the main administration building were closed as an employee strike at Antioch College ended its third week Friday.

EXCELLENT CONSERVATION PROGRAM — The Fayette County Soil and Water Conservation District received the "excellent" Goodyear Distinctive Service Conservation Award at the recent 30th annual Goodyear Conservation Awards program in Columbus. James Waddle (left) received congratulations from Burdette Elliott, a member of the Goodyear committee, as he affixed the award ribbon on the Ohio map (background). Sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., the program and annual meeting give the boards of supervisors of the 88 Ohio Soil and Water Conservation Districts an opportunity to evaluate and compare their programs and to discuss their expanded pollution abatement projects, which affect both rural and urban land. William Dunn is chairman of the Fayette County board of supervisors. Other members are Waddle, John Peterson, Richard Carson and Clyde Bower. Lee Cleland is the work unit conservationist and Leonard Watts is the technician.

Cattle feeders have substitute for high priced soybean meal

As soybean and soybean meal prices spiral, cattle feeders are searching for ways to reduce their protein costs.

Dr. T.W. Perry, Purdue University animal nutritionist, points out that Purdue and other universities have developed urea, which can replace a large part of the oil meals as protein sources for beef cattle. Urea contains the crude protein equivalent of over six times its weight in soybean meal.

On today's market urea sells for about five cents a pound. Thus, five cents worth of urea contains the crude protein equivalent of up to 60 cents worth of $200 a ton soybean meal.

Since urea dissolves in water, Perry notes, it lends itself equally well to liquid mixing or dry mixing. Normally, liquid supplements are less expensive than the dry form.

Since urea contains no energy, the energy of the soybean meal replaced must be compensated for, he adds. Usually, this means adding one extra pound of corn per animal per day to the ration.

Misuse of urea can result in toxicity, Perry cautions. The best safeguard

FCIC seeks new data on crop losses

Unfavorable weather during the normal harvest season for corn and soybeans caused thousands of policyholders to report probable losses to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, according to Earl Wilson, service director for this area.

When the weather cleared in January for a few days, many farmers were able to complete harvesting by virtually staying in the fields around the clock. Wilson stated that policyholders who had reported a probable loss earlier should again notify the local FCIC office and report the production when harvest of an insured crop is completed.

If a loss occurred, the policyholder will then be contacted by an adjuster. If the production exceeds the policy guarantee, the 1972 records can be cleared and the corporation can then concentrate on those cases which need further attention.

Wilson also emphasized that Feb. 1 is the final date for notification of loss to 1972 corn and soybean crops for policyholders who have not yet given notice to the corporation.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is an agency of the United States Department of Agriculture. Protection is provided against all natural causes of loss on farm crops.

Fairfield, Fayette, Greene, Madison, Montgomery and Pickaway Counties are serviced by the county office located at 27 1/2 South Detroit St., Xenia. The telephone number is 513-372-5001.

In the little community of Ophir, Colo., high in the mountains, the sun goes down about the first of November and disappears until the middle of January.

There's more to this day's influences than may be apparent. What you "forgot" may bother you later, so stay "with it." Live up to your obligations.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Mixed aspects, very favorable, in most part, for following well-drawn plans and noting mistakes so as not to repeat.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Ignorance will not be an excuse for failure; neither will putting your head in the sand like an ostrich! Step up with an idea; step back where appropriate.

YOU BORN TODAY have a bright, alert mind and unusual physical dexterity. Your enthusiasm for life and all that it holds knows no bounds, and you are always eager and ready to accept new ideas. Normally a cooperative worker and partner, you may, however, go about things in your own way, forgetting others concerned in your plans. In fact, you can be extremely erratic and unsystematic in your methods, but you DO get things done eventually. Procrastination is one of the traits you MUST learn to conquer; also a tendency toward excessive volubility. Under ordinary circumstances, you are clear-sighted and realistic but, when your emotions take over, your mental vision becomes blurred, and judgment suffers. Your talents are many but, notably, in the fields of literature, music, painting, science and politics.

THEY'RE ALL THUMBS—green thumbs—after they take a class in gardening with Aileen Paul in her Leonia, N.J., home.

A Way with Children

She's a Successful Author Because She Has Young Ideas

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

AILEEN PAUL has a way with children. Maybe her success is due to the fact that she never talks down to them. She has written four how-to books for youngsters and she regularly teaches children's classes in cooking and gardening in her home in Leonia, N. J. She's one teacher that students like because she respects them.

"It's hard for me to remember funny things children say," she said, "I don't think what they say is funny. I take children seriously."

Aileen has three youngsters of her own. Fred, 15, and K. T., 16, are still at home, while a married daughter, Celia, is a community organizer for the Throgs Neck Health Station in the East Bronx.

Mother's Lesson

When all three were little, Aileen taught them cooking and gardening. "It wasn't just for family togetherness," she said, "but because cooking and gardening are things I love to do for sheer creative fun."

Later, Aileen, an attractive, soft-spoken blonde, had her own TV show, "New York Cook." That's when she discovered how much interest there is in children whipping up recipes.

"Every time I had my daughter Celia on the show making cookies or cakes," she recalled, "the switchboard would be swamped. My neighbors got into the act, and before long I was teaching Celia her way around a stove—and I was teaching all the neighbors' children, too."

The gardening classes—the spring session will be starting soon—came later.

Four Children's Books

A natural outgrowth of the classes are her two books, "Kids Cooking" and "Kids Gardening" for Doubleday. A third book, "Kids Camping" will be published shortly and a fourth, "Kids Cooking Cookies, Candies and Cakes" is on its way to the publisher.

"And I have another book I'm going to write," she said. "It will tell children how to buy things, how to spend their money wisely."

Co-op Ventures

Aileen is president of the 43-year-old Cooperative Institute Association, with headquarters at the Mid-Eastern Cooperative Inc., More Avenue, Carlstadt, N. J. She is keenly interested in letting people know how to buy things—food, pharmaceuticals, furniture, etc.—the co-op way.

"If you're a member of a food co-op," she said, "there are several advantages. The food prices are lower and the quality's higher on co-op labels. At the end of the year, you get a rebate of about 2 per cent on the money you've spent for groceries. But, of course, you don't have to be a member to shop at a co-op. If offers good values for all shoppers."

This May, there will be a workshop designed to teach people how to set up consumer co-ops at Arlie House in Warrenton, Va.

Radio Show

When she's not teaching or writing, Aileen is apt to be found at WNYC. She had a radio program—she hopes to syndicate it—that is heard three times a week in the metropolitan New York area. The program not only reports entertainments and special events of interest to young people but presents the opinions of junior "critics" on new movies, plays and happenings for children. She's also done a pilot film on a "Kids Cooking" TV show that she's hoping to sell to a commercial sponsor. What is the format like?

Junior Gourmets

"Well, something like a junior Galloping Gourmet," she said, "but with no brandy in the cupboard! We'd have two or three youngsters cooking on each show—and I'd gently weave in some good nutrition points."

A member of the Bergen County

branch of NOW, Aileen is strongly interested in Women's Lib ("But I don't have time to do as much work for Women's Lib as I'd like.") Her day is mostly spent on one of her youth-oriented projects.

"You know," she said, "children are much more satisfactory to work with than adults are. Children hear you when you're talking or teaching. Their minds aren't clogged up with details. Their minds aren't off someplace else—mentally writing a store list or a thank-you note to a mother-in-law."

Summer at the Shore

Future plans include a flying trip to London with her children and a long summer at her favorite Jersey shore resort, Barnegat Light on Long Beach Island.

"But it'll be a working summer," she said. "I'll do some writing and, as always, I'll be testing recipes and working with local youngsters. My kitchen is always a mob scene of kids cooking."

Two pressure-packed foul shots by Pete Jones nips Circleville

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Two clutch free throws by Pete Jones with six seconds remaining gave the Miami Trace Panthers a thrilling 57-56 victory over co-leading Circleville before a packed house on the Roundtown hardwood, Friday night.

The Panthers, down by as many as 12 points in the first half, refused to break and held on to a dwindling seven-point lead to win their fourth game in a row.

For the Tigers it was a disappointing loss that furthered their downhill skid and knocked them out of a first place deadlock with Washington C. H. which defeated Hillsboro.

A WELL-BALANCED scoring attack and clutch performances by Dave Steinhauer and Dave Persinger, both coming off the bench, sparked the Panther victory. Steinhauer led Miami Trace in scoring with 14 points while Persinger grabbed 10 rebounds and added eight points. Pete Jones tossed in 13 points, nine of them free throws, while brother Muff added 12 and Randy Reiber 10.

Pete also pulled down 10 missed shots followed by Reiber with nine and Muff with eight. The Panthers as a team outrebounced Circleville 40-27.

Sparked by some sensational shooting by junior guard Robin Martin, the Tigers jumped to a quick 9-4 lead midway through the first quarter and widened the gap to eight at 17-9 at the buzzer. Martin tossed in 13 points in the quarter, most of them coming at long range over the Panthers man-to-man defense.

Lion reserves hold lead in SCOL rumble

Washington C. H.'s reserve basketball team preserved its tie atop the South Central Ohio League race with a 56-50 win over Hillsboro Friday.

Coach John Skinner, employing another all-junior starting quintet then switching to five sophomores in the second frame, received balanced scoring from 10 players to post the win.

The win was Washington C. H.'s eighth of the season and sixth in SCOL play which kept the Lions tied with Circleville for league supremacy.

JUNIOR FORWARD Larry Howell topped Washington C.H.'s scorebook with 12 points and Mark Johnson, Jim Vess and Tom Allen each contributed eight.

The Lions grabbed a 12-10 first quarter edge and fell behind by a 25-24 count at halftime. Washington C.H. bounced back in the third quarter to take a 36-33 lead and capped the win a 20-point fourth quarter spree.

Mike Sharkey scored 17 points for Coach Larry Pummell's Indians, now 7-7 on the season.

Fourth period spurt gives Lions triumph

By MIKE FLYNN

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Washington C.H.'s title-hungry Blue Lions emerged with sole ownership of the top perch in the crowded South Central Ohio League basketball sweepstakes with a goose-pimpily 61-60 come-from-behind win over an upset-minded Hillsboro bunch Friday night at the WSHS gym.

The Lions' win, coupled with Miami Trace's verdict over previous co-leader Circleville, pumped Washington C.H.'s SCOL record to 6-2 and left head coach Gary Shaffer's gang a full game in front of Circleville, Miami Trace and Wilmington, all knotted with identical 5-3 loop charts.

Washington C.H., behind a clutch performance from senior smoothie Chuck Bath, bounced back from a five-point deficit with less than three minutes remaining to nudge the determined Hillsboro team.

BATH, the Lions' velvet-smooth wingman, bagged 19 points on the basis of six field goals and seven free throws, but it was the late workmanlike scorework from the shock-proof senior that clinched the win for rascally Washington C.H., which hiked its all-games log to a nifty 9-6.

Jeff Downs, a hard-working 6-foot-1 senior, consistent forward Mike fourth quarter got under way. Miami Trace taking advantage of the one-and-one situation and two Circleville turnovers, however, managed to build a seven-point lead at 55-48 with 2:40 showing on the clock.

The Tigers' aggressive defense almost saved the game for them as they twice stole the ball from Panther ball handlers and turned them into baskets. Martin stole an errant Panther pass and raced for a layup to close the gap to one, 55-54, with 10 seconds remaining.

Following a Circleville timeout the Panthers put the ball in play and the Tigers fouled Pete Jones on the in-bounds pass.

Jones calmly stepped to the line and dropped in both shots of a one-and-one situation to give the Fayette Countians a 57-54 lead and insure the victory. Truex drove the length of the floor uncontested for the final basket to close the gap to one point.

"IT WAS GREAT," a jubilant Jan Stauffer said in the Panther lockerroom after he and his players were mobbed by the happy fans.

The Panthers, now in a three way deadlock with Circleville and Wilmington for second place, will travel to Columbus Bishop Hartley tonight.

Free throws proved to be the difference in the contest. The Panthers hit 19 of 27 chances while Circleville got only 10 chances and made good on six. The Tigers made six more field goals, 25 of 57, than Miami Trace, 19 of 47 from the floor.

The Tigers, now in a three-game tailspin, tangle with Hamilton Township tonight.

The Tigers outrebounced Miami Trace 38-15 in posting their sixth SCOL victory to climbing to a first place deadlock with Washington C. H.

Paced by some fine outside shooting by Perry Hoskins and Phil Roll the Tigers breezed to a 32-16 halftime and coasted the second half, holding the Panthers to 26 points.

Al Fleming turned in a fine defensive performance for Miami Trace, blocking eight Tiger shots. Phil Skinner hit eight points to lead the Panthers in that category.

Roll tossed in 21 and Hoskins hit 18 to pace Circleville.

Domenico and Dick Witherspoon played instrumental roles with Bath in the closing moments of the hard-fought struggle which was never really decided until the final buzzer.

Witherspoon provided ample support in Washington C.H.'s attack as he popped in seven field goals and two free throws for 16 points.

Don Jewett, the classy Hillsboro sharpshooter, hooped 26 points and turned in a hustling, banging board effort before being sidelined with the maximum number of personal fouls late in the game.

The slippery Jewett dictated the tempo of the game with his flashy scorework and rebounding and led head coach Bob Ream's pesky Indians to leads which stretched nine points in the third quarter. But when the springy inside ace was sidelined with 1:55 remaining Washington C.H. inched ahead to stay on two free throws by Bath and one each from Domenico and Witherspoon.

Kevin Bailey and Lawrence Turner canned 13 and 12 points respectively for Hillsboro which had a two-game win spree snapped and watched its SCOL record dip to a 3-5 level.

Washington C.H., which never held the upper hand in the game until the opening play of the second quarter, boasted only six leads in the contest until spurling away in the last minute and a half of the fourth quarter.

The Lions hit 40 per cent from the floor on 22 of 63 shots and canned 14 of 21 free throws for a 67 per cent figure. Hillsboro netted 24 of 65 attempts from the field for 37 per cent and hit 17 of 27 charity tosses.

Hillsboro hit its first four shots from the field to open the first quarter and Jewett owned half of that total as the Indians raced to an 8-0 lead with 5:43 left. Bath was fouled by Jewett on a driving layup and hit both free throws for the Lions' initial score with 5:30 showing on the clock.

JEWETT CANNED four more points before the period ended and the teams struggled to a 15-15 tie.

Forward Kenny Knisley hit a fielder to give the Lions their first lead of the game with only 20 seconds having elapsed in the second period and the game was tied five more times before Hillsboro spurted to a 33-31 halftime lead.

The Lions were held scoreless for over three minutes midway through the third period and enjoyed only one lead as Hillsboro outscored the Fayette Countians 14-12 to nab a 47-43 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Two goals by Jeff Downs tied the game at 47-47 with 5:42 left and the game was knotted twice more before Hillsboro zipped to a 56-51 lead with 2:27 remaining. A driving layup and two free throws by Bath and a long jumper by Witherspoon gave the Lions a 57-56 lead as Jewett fouled out.

The lead was expanded to 60-56 before Bill Housh scored two goals, one with four seconds left.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♠	2♥

Opening lead - king of hearts.

A one-suit squeeze is like the dodo bird - it is largely non-existent. Nonetheless, there are hands where this rara avis makes its presence known - and here is such a case.

West commences hostilities with the K-A and another heart, ruffed by East. East makes the natural club return, the king losing to the ace, and back comes another club to South's queen. Declarer now cashes the A-K-J of trumps and jack of clubs whereupon this becomes the position:

North
♦ Q 7 6

West
♦ 9 3

South
♠ 10
♦ A 8 4

South continues with the ten of spades and East finds himself in an awkward position. If he discards the five of diamonds, declarer plays a low diamond from his hand, following low from dummy, and East is end-played. He makes a diamond trick, but no more.

East does no better if he discards the ten of diamonds on the ten of spades. In that case, declarer likewise plays a low diamond toward dummy, adjusting his play in accordance with the card West produces:

1. If West follows with the three, South covers with the six and East is endplayed.

2. If West follows with the nine, South covers with the queen, which loses to the king. But East must now return a diamond from the J-5 into South's A-8, which sit over him like a tent. East is helpless, whatever he does, and the one-suit squeeze works like a charm.

World of 'Exceptional' Children

To be witness to compassion and courage is a rare privilege. As a physician I recently had such an experience.

A family who came to me for a pure medical problem soon revealed that their entire world revolved around twin girls who were born with multiple handicaps.

Besides a distinct mental retardation there was blindness; also other physical defects.

It was a revelation to hear the tale of fortitude of parents devoting their lives to bringing some semblance of joy and love to their unfortunate children. Great strength has been evident in the dignity and intelligence with which this problem is being handled.

The complexity of the problem is magnified by the fact that so few institutions are available to satisfy the needs of the retarded child and devoted parents.

The parents of the twin girls had initially found an institution where love and devotion and knowledge and educational skill were concentrated. But because of financial reverses, this school had to close. There was a mounting crescendo of anxiety in the parents' search for a new school.

They found it. I want my readers to share with me the special pleasure of knowing that such a school exists, a school attuned to the delicate needs of children with handicaps, and dedicated to a goal of bringing maximum happiness to each child.

The name of the school is an excellent indicator of the philosophy on which the total structure stands. It is called "The Allegheny Valley School for Exceptional Children." And, indeed, the children are "exceptional."

With poetic gentleness, they describe their school as "the place where childhood lives in the warmth of love. It cannot survive the frosts of fear, the chill of loneliness."

The school is staffed by educators, physicians, nurses, psychologists, physical and speech therapists, recreational directors and trained volunteers in the field of retardation.

Their philosophy is simple, and beautiful. "It is a place where the exceptional child may have a place that is rightfully his."

A carefully planned community for the young adult burdened by multiple handicaps offers a way of life filled with dignity and companionship in a world that accepts them and helps them - a world where they can feel they belong.

Under the direction of Charles F. Buterbaugh, the Allegheny Valley School in Pittsburgh is constantly finding innovative approaches to widen the horizons that we hope will eventually bring happiness and fulfillment to all children so afflicted.

Damage moderate in 6 auto mishaps

One driver was cited, and property damage was listed as moderate in six traffic accidents investigated Friday by city police and sheriff's departments. There were no injuries reported.

Stephen D. Creed, 17, of 224½ S. Fayette St., was charged with driving at speeds excessive for road conditions following a single car crash at the intersection of Ohio 753 and Bogus Road at 9:30 p.m. Friday.

Sheriff's deputies said Creed's car was westbound on Bogus Road and slid through the intersection as he attempted to stop. The car skidded 85 feet on the rain-slickened pavement and crashed into a utility pole.

Damage to Creed's 1960 model car was heavy.

Other mishaps investigated were:

POLICE
FRIDAY, 6:25 a.m. — Cars driven by Earl Tussey, 47, Rt. 2, Leesburg, and Calvin F. Newland, Rt. 2, were involved in a slight mishap on Court Street, just west of North Street; damage minor.

FRIDAY, 5:24 p.m. — Cars driven by Marie E. Matson, 44, of 138 Laurel Dr., and Edwin L. Robinett, 36, of 803 Lakeview Ave., collided at the intersection of Court and Fayette Streets; damage minor.

SHERIFF

FRIDAY, 9:40 a.m. — A Miami Trace school bus driven by Mary J. Merritt, 32, was slightly damaged when a low hanging branch hit the right top corner of the roof as she pulled along the curb on Midland Avenue in Bloomingburg. The bus was empty at the time; damage minor.

FRIDAY, 12:15 p.m. — Cars driven by Walter Cabbage, 53, Rt. 4, and Arlo Bennett, 67, Sabina, collided at the intersection of Palmer and Mount Olive roads; damage moderate.

FRIDAY, 3 p.m. — Ivor Jones, 49, Hillsboro, lost control of his car on a sharp curve on Creek Road and slid off the wet pavement into a guardrail; damage extensive.

HELEN PROBASCO

Helen Probasco new addition to Darbyshire staff

SABINA — J. Meredith Darbyshire, president of Darbyshire & Associates, Inc., announces the addition of a real estate saleswoman, Helen Probasco, who recently completed a course at the Union Professional Real Estate Training School in Columbus and was issued a real estate license Jan. 2.

The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Probasco, she was raised on a farm in Clinton County and graduated from Reesville High School. She is a member of the Richland United Methodist Church.

A graduate of Wilmington College, Miss Probasco taught in the Sabina school system for several years prior to her enlistment in the Women's Reserve of the United States Naval Reserve during World War II when she was the first Clinton County woman to enlist in the Waves. She was active in the county Extension program, having been a 4-H member, advisor and judge.

After Miss Probasco's separation from the Navy as a lieutenant, she was an administrator at Briarcliff College (N.Y.). Most recently she was employed as office manager in New York City and in Cincinnati by Arthur Young and Co., an international accounting firm.

Miss Probasco now lives in Sabina at 312 W. Washington St. She will specialize in the sale of residential properties and farms in Clinton, Fayette and Highland counties.

Fast shuffle by Eckhart under attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The seat switching nomination of Henry W. Eckhart to a new six-year term on the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) could be facing a bumpy political track.

Assistant Senate Majority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, indicated Friday the possibility of hearings on the nomination by Gov. John J. Gilligan which moves Eckhart from the seat he has held on the commission for two years to another vacated by Elmer A. Keller, a Republican, whose term expired.

Maloney said, "Whether we call him in again depends largely on whether news of this new manipulation by the governor produces any new evidence."

The move permits Eckhart to receive a pay raise from $22,280 to $25,168 a year.

Because he was in office when the pay boost went into effect, Eckhart, who was campaign finance director in 1970 for Gilligan in the gubernatorial race, was ineligible to collect the added salary. By resigning his original seat and receiving a new nomination, he automatically becomes eligible for the boost.

Eckhart's original appointment was never confirmed by the Senate but under the law he was allowed to serve because the Senate had not taken any action. He was called in for questioning by the Senate when he was appointed in January 1971, but Maloney said the questioning did not produce "any hard evidence" that he should have been rejected.

"Frankly," Maloney said, "some members of our side were quite dissatisfied last session when we didn't take that appointment to the floor and defeat it."

The governor has said he does not anticipate any significant political repercussions in the nomination, saying, "there's ample precedent for it."

POW escorts given strict 'guidelines'

By PETER ARNETT

AP Special Correspondent
CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — Nearly 400 specially selected military escorts wait at Clark Air Base to nurse the returning American prisoners of war through their initial encounter with life outside captivity.

The one subject of conversation that will be taboo is life inside.

"We have been instructed, 'Just don't ask them what it was like up there,'" said one of the escort officers, Air Force Maj. Joel S. Hetland, 41, of West Bend, Wis. "We will not bring up the subject. We know they will not want to talk about it."

That guideline is just one of a long list governing the reception of the POWs when they step off hospital planes at Clark for their first taste of freedom. Hetland and the other 379 escorts assembled here from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps have had special instruction from chaplains, psychiatrists and former POWs on how to handle the men.

"I think our role is essentially as confidants to the returnees," Hetland told a news conference.

Lt. Cmdr. Elman J. Parrie, 32, of Orange, Tex., said he saw his mission as that of "personal aide to the individual..."

The escorts will question the POWs for information pertaining to other prisoners still being held. But otherwise "our business is to welcome them on, not to determine how they conducted themselves in camp or what they thought of the conduct of others," said Maj. Emmett R. Conrow, 44, of Bisbee, Ariz.

Thorough questioning will come after the POWs return to the United States.

Each POW will be assigned an escort who will remain with him until he reaches the States.

The escorts major concern will be to assist his POW in overcoming what Parrie called "reverse cultural shock."

"They will be coming from a controlled environment to one where they have freedom of choice," he explained.

"They will not be used to making decisions," said Hetland. "We will help make decisions for them."

"If he asks a question, we will get the answer to it," said Conrow.

Each POW's personal file will be made available to his escort.

Former POWs have briefed some of the escorts on post-captivity problems. Maj. Fred Thompson, shot down over North Vietnam on March 20, 1968, and released nearly five months later, told Air Force escort officers that his main problem was readjustment to an open society.

"He told us he was not used to how fast society was running," said Hetland. So the Air Force term for readjustment is "bring the men up to speed."
